

HEALTH PRODUCTS AND TECHNOLOGIES

MANAGEMENT TRAINING

DATE: 31ST JAN– 2ND FEB, 2023

VENUE: CHAK GUEST HOUSE

NAIROBI, KENYA

Health products and technologies management is at the core of providing health care to the population. It encompasses proper control of all health products including drugs, non-pharmaceuticals and all records involved. A reliable and effective supply chain management is crucial to efficient health care delivery and better health outcomes; a supply chain that enhances quality of commodities across the continuum of the supply chain guarantees safe and effective health products and supplies thus building trust in the healthcare system. This training will equip personnel working in supply chain organizations, Pharmacy stores, distributors of pharmaceutical products in private, public, or faith-based DSO and all commodity managers to acquire best practices in product selection and procurement, understand product quantification and forecasting, receiving, issuance, and storage as well as best distribution practices for Health products.
